A sensation was sprung in the New York campaign yesterday by Charles F. There seems to be a whole lot of John Sharp Williams Democrats in North Carolina.

Senator Burton, of Kansas, will rest up in jail while those who enter the ring to scramble for his Senatorial shoes will try to prove that each other has done more jail-deserving things than Burton.

A writer of homiletics says: "Carry your load through life without showing your troubles." When men are loaded, however, they can't help showing it while attempting to keep from doing so.

Emperor William has been having balloon races. President Roosevelt might get up a gas-bag race, considering the fact that during the campaign several members of his cabinet have been making a noise like hot air escaping.

An eminent physician in London declared in a lecture that "it is absolutely necessary for a man to have a silent hour at his home every day." Married men will not hesitate in the presumption that the doctor was lecturing to an audience of married ladies.

Gen. Leonard Wood protests against withdrawing any portion of American troops from the Philippines. Takes a long time to convince the Filippinos to trust us for a square deal. Our government in the Philippines has been bolstered up by bayonets for nearly eight years.

Miss Grace Mullen, of Cleveland has written to the Secretary of the Navy that she and some other girls would dearly love to join the navy. She declares that they could fight bravely. Girls would make poor showings os bluejackets behind the guns but when they put on red jackets and get behind a fan they become dangerous.

The Republican campaign managers frankly acknowledge that the campaign fund is less than one tenth of the usual amount of political contributions, as the corporations are furnishing no funds this year. This shows that the people would have cast a very small vote at a meeting of the stockholders of the Republican party even if they had been given a chance to send in their proxy.

DRAW IS PROTESTED

STRONG CASE IS MADE OUT

Petitioners For Contrivance Not Represented at the Meeting—Consolidated Officials and Prominent People Were Present.

Petitioners for the draw in the trestle over Banks Channel at Wrightsville Beach were not represented at the hearing yesterday before Maj. E. E. Winslow, United States Engineer, in the office in the Postoffice Building. On the other hand, however, there were a large number of people present to protest against the proposed draw, and the District Engineer was presented with a large number of facts and figures to show that there is no necessity for the proposed contrivance and that aside from its being a hindrance to Summer travel to the beach, it will be positively dangerous. Maj. Winslow took all the papers in the case and will transmit them to the War Department with his recommendation, most probably to-day. It will then be several days and perhaps weeks before a final decision is reached.

The hearing before the Engineer took place at noon. The Consolidated Company which owns the trestle which it is proposed to open, was represented by its president, Mr. Hugh MacRae, its general manager, Mr. A. B. Skelding, and counsel, Messrs. Davis and Davis. Others in attendance were Mr. Taylor, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. J. G. L. Gieschen, of the Hanover Seaside Club, Mr. W. J. Moore, proprietor of the Tarrymoore Hotel, and Messrs. Walter G. MacRae, Oscar Pearsall, Geo. R. French, James H. Chadbourn, L. B. Sasser and others.

The petition for the draw and all other documents relative thereto were read by Major Winslow. The citizens present, all of them more or less directly interested, told why there was no necessity for the draw and of its possible dangers to travel. Then there were a large number of affidavits and the general petition from citizens with the answer of the Consolidated Company all of which seemed to have made a favorable impression on Major Winslow, whose recommendation will largely determine the result. The facts in the case are familiar to the public and there is no use to go at any length into the argument as it was presented.

MEMORIAL SERVICE TO-DAY.

Daughters of Confederacy Will Honor Memory of Mrs. Davis.

Cape Fear Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, of this city, have completed all arrangements for a very appropriate memorial service at the W. L. The hour of the service will be 3 o'clock and it will take place simultaneously with the funeral services in Richmond, Va. The service will be only half an hour in length and will be fitting the solemn occasion.

After the memorial service a business meeting of the Chapter will be held at which it is hoped that all members will be present.

AT THE STATE FAIR

Exhibits Are Well Up to Standard and in Great Variety—Military Affairs—Sixth Annual Gun Club Tournament Ends.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 18.—The military conference in progress the past several days between Gen. T. R. Robertson, Gen. J. F. Armfield and Gen. F. A. Macon for the purpose of changing the military regulations and suggesting needed legislation for the improvement of the military service in the State continues and Gen. Robertson says several days yet will be required to complete the work. No statement of changes or recommendations will be given to the public until the work of the committee is completed.

The general verdict of visitors to the State Fair, who are familiar with the achievements in past years, is that the present fair excels all predecessors in the matter of agricultural and industrial exhibits. The highly creditable exhibits of New Hanover, Edgecombe and Wake counties and the exhibit by the North Carolina State Department of Agriculture are especially notable. The principal feature of the display by the Department of Agriculture is a collection of products from the State test farm in Iredell county, showing soil and variety tests in corn, cotton and other products including a large variety of peas. Assistant State Chemist C. B. Williams is in charge of the exhibit and the superintendent of the Iredell farm.

A new feature of the elaborate display always made by the A. & M. College at the fair is a demonstration of the cultivation and manufacture of cotton. It shows cotton in the stalk, the picking, ginning, spinning and weaving into the finest cloth. The variety of goods of exceptionally fine pattern and fabric shown as manufactured in the textile department excites general comment.

The second day's gun club shoot was in a drizzle rain, causing a very disagreeable feeling to the participants.

Wm. Walls, of Wilson, carried off the high amateur average for the day, breaking 176 out 200. Stokley second, 173; Lyon, 171. Ward, representative of "Ballistite" powder, won the high professional average, 187. This gave him high professional average for the tournament, breaking 361 out of 400 shots. E. H. Storr, representative of the Peters' Cartridge Company, was second, 351. George Lyon of Durham, won high amateur average, 346; J. I. Johnson, second, 340. Out of 200 Dreher, of Wilmington, made 155; Warren 83 out of 120 and Boushee, 8 out of 20.

HAD A PERSONAL ENCOUNTER.

Mr. James H. Cowan and Mr. Haughton James in Lively Mix-up.

A personal encounter took place yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock between Mr. James H. Cowan and Mr. J. Haughton James, both prominent young men of the city. The scene of the "run-in" was on Market street, in front of the office of the Evening Dispatch of which Mr. Cowan is editor, the paper, however, not being concerned in the controversy.

It appears that Mr. Cowan and Col. T. C. James, father of Mr. Haughton James, had some words the night before in the postoffice about Mr. Cowan's having fought him so hard in the late priamries, for sheriff. Mr. Cowan was an ardent supporter of another cousin, Mr. S. P. Cowan, who was nominated. One word led to another and Col. James is said to have remarked that he would have resented a remark of Mr. Cowan but for the fact that he was out of a sick bed. Col. James said something back and Mr. Cowan said that he might send one of his sons to settle the matter. Mr. Haughton James called at the Dispatch office yesterday afternoon and called Mr. Cowan out. They had words and went together. Friends pulled them apart. Mr. James made some further remark after they were apart and Mr. Cowan made another lunge at him. In doing so he dislocated two of his fingers, but otherwise neither of the combatants was seriously hurt. The hearing of the case will probably be held before Justice Furlong to-day.

OCTOBER WEDDINGS

Two Pretty Ceremonies United Popular Wilmington Young People Last Evening.

BOTH WERE RATHER QUIET

Miss Erma Wolf and Mr. W. H. Diehm and Miss Florida Anders and Mr. C. C. Birmingham, of Laurinburg, N. C.—Bridal Tour.

Two very pretty wedding ceremonies of interest to a large number of friends in Wilmington and elsewhere were celebrated in this city yesterday evening. That of Mr. W. H. Diehm and Miss Erma Wolf, popular young people of the congregation of St. Matthew's English Lutheran church, was celebrated at half after five o'clock at the parsonage by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Kegley, on North Fourth street, and at 8 o'clock last evening in the pastor's study, on Red Cross street, Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., of Saint Andrew's Presbyterian church, joined in marriage Miss Florida Anders, the attractive young daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. K. Anders, and Mr. C. C. Birmingham, of Laurinburg, N. C. Both were very quiet ceremonies but fraught with much interest for the many friends of the young people.

Wolfe-Diehm.

The marriage of Miss Wolfe and Mr. Diehm was very pretty indeed. Only intimate friends and members of the families of the bride and groom were present, the impressive service being spoken by Rev. Mr. Kegley. The parlors of the home were very prettily decorated for the event and the wedding is described as being a pretty one indeed. The bride wore a becoming costume of white chiffon taffeta and carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses. The groom wore the conventional black.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. O. F. Wolf, superintendent of the Cape Fear Lumber mill in this city and she is much admired for her many personal charms in a wide circle of friends. The groom is a native of Pennsylvania but has been residing here for a number of years and has made a large number of close friends. He is employed in the A. C. L. General Offices. Both the bride and groom are active workers in the church and Sabbath School of St. Matthew's and for that reason great interest is felt in their marriage by members of that congregation.

After the ceremony yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Diehm left on the northbound train for an extended bridal tour North which will include a visit to the old home of the groom in Lancaster, Pa. They will return in about two weeks and be at home at the residence of Mrs. Bannerman, near Second and Red Cross streets.

Anders-Birmingham.

The marriage of Miss Anders and Mr. Birmingham is described as being very pretty and impressive. There were present only members of the families of the bride and groom and a few very intimate friends. Dr. McClure very impressively spoke the service which made the young people man and wife. The bride wore a stylish suit of grey and carried a lovely bouquet of bride's roses and maiden hair ferns. The groom wore the conventional black. They will make their home in this city at No. 505 Walnut street.

Miss Anders is the attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. K. Anders, formerly of this city, but now of White Oak, Bladen county. She is highly esteemed by a large number of friends here and elsewhere. The groom holds a responsible position with the Seaboard Air Line railway and is a young man of splendid business ability. The couple will make their home in this city in the future.

Back to His Pittsburg Home.

Joe Currie, a young man yet in his teens, one of his legs lost in the service and stranded here with the Pawnee Bill Shows, a pleasant young chap in hard luck, was sent back to his home yesterday through the kindness of Mayor Waddell and the railroad people. He had no means except what he had earned by shining shoes but was anxious to get back home. He had no idea that transportation could be secured farther than Richmond, but when he went to the railroad he was overjoyed to find that they would send him all the way back to his Pittsburg home. Before he left he said he wanted to extend his thanks to all the Wilmington people who treated him so kindly here.

SOWING AND REAPING

Strong Sermon Last Night by Dr. Hamilton at First Baptist Church—Some Besetting Sins and the Harvest—Announcements.

Last night at the First Baptist church while the pastor, Dr. Hale, was making certain announcements concerning the special meetings now in progress, he alluded to the spiritual blessings attendant upon the services saying that those in charge had no idea of bringing the meetings to a close. In all probability, then, the two daily, general services will be held through next week and possibly longer.

The evangelist is gaining in power and his hold upon his congregations is remarkable. His theme last night was on the proposition that, "Like Produces Like." The text was Galatians 6:7.

Following the reading of portions of the fifth chapter of the Acts of the Apostles and the twelfth chapter of Hebrews he said in part:

"It is conceded by everyone, by the agnostic and infidel as well as by the Christian, that like produces like. There is no one in this building who will gainsay that. Then accepting that as true and indisputable let us consider brieby some things which our text bears upon. In Galatians 6:7, we read: 'Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.'

"We all have an influence. We sow where we scarcely know it; indeed, we are sowing unknown influences and frequently the unknown influence is greater than the known. The men and women who have had the greatest influence over me never knew of it. Your conduct, conversation and ideals in your homes are leaving indellible impressions on the children and others. Our influence is going out daily, and the necessity of sowing cannot be escaped.

Again, there is the certainty of the harvest: David's sin against God was reaped in the harvest of his own children's disobedience. Jacob deceived his father and for years he reaped deception on the part of his children. If you sow to the wind you are bound to reap the whirlwind and when the Devil tells a young man that he must sow his wild oats, it is because he knows the harvest will be ruin, despair and bitterness. God help you to-night young men, not to believe the Devil's lies. Do not longer stay away from God, wasting other days and exerting your baleful influence. Turn your face, heart and life toward Jesus now.

"If you sow a Godless and Christless life, you will reap a Godless and Christless eternity. Sow indifference to God and you reap a harvest of sorrow. He who sows a lie reaps a harvest of lies. Sow the square dance and you reap the round; sow the round and you reap the brothel. Taking and studying closely some figures compiled by one who has made the most careful investigation, I find that out of some three hundred young women who have entered upon lives of shame that three-fourths of them took their first step in sin in the ballrooms. I am my sister's keeper, as well as my brother's and I give you these facts because I want to save your girls. Sow the decanter on the sideboard and you reap the drunken son. Sow the saloon and you will reap the drunken son-in-law, the poorest property you ever owned. 'Be not deceived, God is not mocked.' You may mock at your father, at your mother, or at your wife or husband, but you canot mock God without direful consequences."

Preceding the service to-night the ordinance of baptism will be administered to a number of candidates. A special meeting will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock to hear reports from those who have been doing personal work during the meetings and to outline additional work along the same line. The regular Bible study service will be held from 4 to 5 o'clock.

Democratic Campaign Appointments.

The following appointments for Democratic speakers are announced from State Headquarters in Raleigh: Hon. Franklin McNeill: Red Springs, Oct. 26th; Rowland, Oct. 26th, night; Maxton, Oct. 27th; Lumberton, Oct. 27th, night. Hon. J. A. THE CARGO ON FIRE

Blaze in Over Thirteen Thousand Bales of Cotton on Big British Steamer.

AT THE CHAMPION COMPRESS

Discovered Early Yesterday Morning As Ship Was Preparing to Sail For Liverpool—Damage Not Yet Decided By Board.

As the ship was receiving the last of a cargo of something over 13,000 bales of cotton and was preparing to sail for Liverpool, fire was discovered yesterday morning at 6 o'clock in the hold under the third hatch of the British steamer Marthara, 2,519 tons, Capt. Horsley, which was lying at the wharves of the Champion Compress. The presence of the fire on board was discovered by a member of the crew and an alarm was immediately given. The big pumps kept at the compress in the case of an emergency and the steamer's hose were brought to play upon the cotton and a telephone message brought the city Fire Department. The difficulties of the situation at once presented themselves to those who were present and there was nothing else to do than to flood that compartment of the ship in which the fire occurred with water. This was done in a remarkably short time and the flames to all appearances were extinguished. The loss will be hard to estimate, the greatest damage being by water.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have originated from a spark from some passing river boat which either dropped in the hold of the steamer through the hatch as the cotton was being loaded several days ago or was dropped on the cotton on the wharf and afterwards stowed away in the ship. In compressed cotton fire has been known to smoulder without smoke or scent for days at a time. The chief officer of the ship made a round of the vessel after work was stopped the afternoon previous and everything was found apparently all right. The utmost precautions against fire are taken at the compress and how it could have originated other than in the way mentioned is a mystery. There is a city law requiring all river boats to be equipped with spark arresters, but is believed that the law is generally disregarded by the owners of the smaller craft which are most dangerous. All the steamers arriving at the compress are required by Messrs. Sprunt & Son, the consignees, to put on the spark arresters the minute they reach the dock in compliance with the city law and the fire could have hardly originated from one of the ships at the press. As a result of these great precautions, it is a noteworthy fact that yesterday's was the first fire at the compress in eighteen years.

As soon as possible yesterday, Capt. Horsley, of the Marthara, noted a protest and requested Mr. James Sprunt, British Vice Consul, to convene a board of survey in order that the damage to the cargo might be appraised and the vessel proceed with the least possible delay. The losses are fully covered by insurance. Mr. Sprunt selected to compose the board of survey, Col. Jno. Wilder Atkinson, Lloyd's agent at the port; Capt. McLean, master of the steamer Osceola, and Capt. Ransdall, of the British steamer Beatrice. The underwriters have requested Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son to represent them in adjusting the losses and they have decided to do so.

The board of survey met yesterday and inspected the results of the fire on the ship but had not investigated the matter sufficiently to make definite report. About 100 bales of the cotton had been taken out of the ship up to last night. It is badly scorched, but as above stated the greatest loss will be in flooding the cargo with water.

The Marthara was cleared last night by Messrs. Sprunt & Son with 13,100 bales of the staple, valued at $750,800 and she will probably be ready to sail to-day. Hold No. 3 has been only partially filled with cotton in order that the cargo in that part of the ship may be gotten at easily in case the fire should break out again while the steamer is on her voyage.

Every woman who rises above the commonplace in her dress is admired and envied. The stylish shapely La Grecque Corset is first aid to smart dressers. Demonstration now on at Platt & Haar's. **

ROOSEVELT VIOLATED THE LAW

There is quite a stir in Washington over the discovery that President Roosevelt violated the law in contributing a dollar to the Republican campaign fund. The Washington Post of Wednesday contained this in its news columns:

"Members of the Civil Service Commission, it is said, are privately of the impression that President Roosevelt, Representative Sherman, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, and Representative Griggs, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, have violated the law governing the soliciting and receipt of money for campaign purposes.

"Owing to the prominence of the individuals whose dollar contributions to the Republican fund have been heralded throughout the land, especially the dollar given by the President immediately following the announcement that the committee would be glad to receive these popular subscriptions, no action is to be taken by the commission at present.

"It is understood that after the election there will be an investigation at which steps will be taken to prevent a repetition of these practices."

President Roosevelt ought to have hifself prosecuted and plead guilty. If the law prohibits what he has done and he violated it, he has done exactly what Senator Burton is to pay the penalty for.

The Post goes on to say that the popular idea of the civil service law is that it merely prohibits Federal officials from soliciting funds for campaign purposes. This idea is strengthened because the law goes into detail, and draws a fine distinction between the home of a Federal employe and his office address, making it unlawful for anybody to solicit contributions at the official address of an employe.

But section 11 of the act of June 16, 1883 goes farther than the mere matter of soliciting, and makes "receiving" money an offense. Chairman Sherman proclaimed the fact broadcast that the President sent him a dollar, and the Associated Press carried the text of the accompanying letter far and wide. Section 11 says that "no Senator, Representative, etc., or any officer or employe of either of said Houses, and no executive, judicial, military, or naval officer of the United States, and no clerk or employe of any department, branch, or bureau, etc., shall, directly or indirectly, solicit or receive, or be in any manner concerned in soliciting or receiving, any assessment, contribution, or subscription for any political purpose whatever, from any officer, clerk, or employe of the United States or any branch or bureau thereof, or from any person receiving any salary or compensation from moneys derived from the Treasury of the United States."

Section 14 provides that no officer, clerk, etc., or other person in the service of the United States, shall, directly or indirectly, give or hand over to any other officer, clerk, or person in this prescribed class, any money or other valuable thing, on account of or to be applied to the promotion of any political object whatever. The penalty prescribed for the violation of these two sections is a fine of not exceeding $5,000, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years, or both.

It would appear that people who become officials of the government should be better acquainted with the laws of their country. Propriety might suggest that certain things are wrong even if officials are ignorant of the actual letter of the law.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—Doubtless Mr. Cortelyou will regret that his failure to study law will prevent him from completing the Cabinet circle by a term as Attorney General.—Washington Post.

—The signals adopted for disabled vessels at sea are manufactured by a woman. No gallant sailor has ever been known to ignore a lady's sign of distress.—Washington Post.

—Mr. Moran has let the cat out of the bag somewhat prematurely in opposing Bryan and doing the bidding of Hearst. Bryanites, both in New York and in Massachusetts, have had due warning that Hearst is not for Bryan, in 1908, but that he is for Hearst now, in 1908, and forever.—New York Tribune (Rep.).

—The corporation commission has never done a better service for the public than it has in its order requiring the railroads to keep bulletin boards at their stations and to have the movements of passenger trains correctly marked on them. The railroads should thank the commission, as much as the people will, for this order; for no other one thing has caused them to be so much cursed as their custom of fooling the people with untruthful statements on their bulletin boards.—Charlotte Observer.

Danderine

GREW THIS HAIR:

AND WE CAN PROVE IT

Testimonial No. 432.

MISS JEANETTE WALLICE,
343 W. 14TH STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

When the scalp throws off either dandruff or a gummy substance, it is an evidence of scalp disease, and no time should be lost in correcting it. You certainly would not hesitate to take treatment were you to look at this matter through a magnifying glass. When highly magnified it resembles a working mass of insects. These creatures absorb the nutriment or life-sap of the scalp causing the scalp to become dry and feverish, resulting in the loss of hair and finally baldness. Danderine works wonders in all such cases. It thoroughly eradicates all trace of scalp bacteria and makes the hair grow unusually long, strong and beautiful. One 25 cent bottle is enough to show you that it will do all this and even more. NOW at all druggists, three sizes, 25c., 50c. & $1.00 per bottle. KNOWLTON DANDERINE CO., Chicago.

ABSENT MINDED PROFESSOR.

Inicdents That Made Him a Source of Amusement to His Friends.

Many stories are told of the absent-mindedness of the late Sir John Burdon-Sanderson, formerly regius professor of medicine at Oxford, who was familiarly known as "The Burder."

He used to delight his classes by stuffing one chalky duster after another into his pockets, and finally using his pocket handkerchief to clean the blackboard. At his own dinner table he would carefully carve the joint and serve his guests, and then fall to on his own plate utterly oblivious to the fact that he had forgotten to help himself.

The late Sir Henry Acland had a story he always enjoyed of the professor's absent-mindedness. While a guest at his house, Sanderson one day asked Miss Acland if he might have his luncheon earlier than usual, as he wished to have a walk before returning to the schools. At the appointed hour lunch was duly served, and the professor left the house. Ten minutes later, at his usual luncheon hour, he returned, rang the bell, and asked the astonished servant to bring up lunch. It was duly served, and he made a second hearty repast, utterly ignorant that it was an encore.

Lady Sanderson left him one evening to conduct his guests into the dining room. When she came down into the hall she found him helping them into their overcoats, shaking hands and saying good night.—London Daily Mail.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

LEMP LEAVES LAVENDER LADY

St. Louis Brewer Tells of Disagreements With His Wife—Not Good for Children to Witness Parental Bickerings.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—William J. Lemp, the young millionaire brewer, who was elected president of the Lemp Brewing Company on the death of his father in 1904, and who succeeded him in the board of World's Fair directors, left his wife and their little son at home, and has gone to live at the Washington Hotel, in this city.

Mrs. Lemp, who is known is local society as the "lavender lady," because of the dominance of that color in her rich toilettes, was formerly Miss Lillian Handlan.

Disagreements led to the separation, Mr. Lemp is quoted as saying today. "Immediately upon leaving my home I informed my wife's father that my wife and I," said Mr. Lemp, "have not been getting on as husband and wife should. Our child is six years old, and would not be benefitted by being a daily witness to bickerings of his parents."

Mr. Lemp says he expects his wife to file suit for divorce on grounds of incompatibility. Mrs. Lemp, when seen at her home, said she had nothing for publication. Her father, A. H. Handlan, said, laughingly, "Mr. Lemp is the proper one to talk about it. He is the person interested; I am not."

No matter how stout, an air of distinction and unstudied grace is imparted to the wearer of LeGrecque Belt Corset. Demonstration now on at Platt & Haar's. **

Spirits Turpentine.

—Hon. Locke Craig will speak at Warsaw on Saturday, October 20th —Saturday of this week.

—Governor Glenn on Wednesday granted the requisition made by the Governor of South Carolina for Henry McGill, colored, charged with burglary and larceny at Lancaster, S. C. He is now on the chain gang of Anson county. An effort was made to prevent his going to South Carolina, T. L. Caudle, Esq., of Wadesboro, appearing for him.

—Hollis Winston, son of Dr. George T. Winston, president of the A. & M. College at Raleigh, is an engineer in the United States Navy. He was detailed as the enginner of the Charleston, which took Secretary Root around South America, and now he is detailed to the Columbia, which will take President Roosevelt to Panama to see the canal.

—Asheville Special, October 17: News was brought here to-day by Dr. I. A. Harris, of the burning to death of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Edmunds, near Homerville, in Flat Rock township, and the serious if not fatal injuries sustained by the mother in attempting to save her child from death. Dr. Harris says that Mrs. Edmunds is in a critical condition and that should she survive she will be maimed for life; that several fingers were so terribly burned as to necessitate amputation and that other injuries about the face and neck will leave scars.

—Mount Olive Tribune: W. R. Dixon, the Republican candidate for Congress in this District, was first in the Farmers' Alliance, then a Populist in the Fusion Legislature of 1897, which Butler declared was damnable, and now is a Republican candidate. In the Fusion Legislature of 1897 Dixon voted for Abe Middleton, a negro politician, against a Confederate soldier. This is indeed a "sweet" record to come before the people of our district with, and ask of them their suffrage, in preference to a man like Charles R. Thomas, the Democratic nominee.

—High Point Special, October 17: It is reliably learned that within the next 60 days a proposition will be submitted to the voters of High Point for an issue of $75,000 for the proposed Thomasville, Glen Anna & Pee Dee Railway and Construction Co. The parties behind this project this week purchased from Capt. Milt Jones the Thomasville & Glenn Ana road, which runs from that place to Denton. The Randolph & Cumberland Railroad people are also busy themselves to get their road here from the American Talc Works, a distance of 41 miles. This road by virtue of buying the old Carthage road has connection with the Seaboard Air Line at Sanford. There is already a provision made for a bond issue of $50,000 for this road to be voted on after the sitting of the Legislature the first of the coming year. These people want to come here bad and say they will come if given a reasonable show.

—At Democratic headquarters in Raleigh on Wednesday the following appointments were announced for speaking: Hon. Franklin McNeill, Red Springs, October 26th, Rowland that night, Maxton 27th, Lumberton that night. Hon. J. A. Brown, Back Swamp, October 26th, Raft Swamp that night, Branchville 27th, Union Chapel that night, these places being in Robeson county. State Auditor Dixon at Pireway, Columbus county, October 29th, Chadbourn that night; Ilion, Columbus county, October 30th in afternoon.

—The list of insurance companies doing business in this State just issued by the Insurance department shows that of North Carolina companies there are seven life insurance companies chartered by this State; twelve assessment life companies, three fire companies and accident companies. Greensboro continues to be the insurance center of the State.

—Raleigh correspondence Charlotte Observer, Oct. 17: The Corporation Commission makes an order that it shall be the duty of every railway to place a bulletin board in a conspicuous place at each ticket office, upon which shall be bulletined the time at which each train carrying passengers is due to arrive and leave under its public schedule. It is also made the duty of each railway at each telegraph station, 30 minutes before the time when its trains are due to arrive at such stations, to bulletin this fact upon the board whether said train is on time or not, and, if behind schedule time, to state as nearly as possible the time it is behind. Whenever there is any definite delay of any passenger train it is made the duty of the railway to bulletin at all such stations the cause of such delay and the probable continuation thereof, and the passengers on board, of such train shall also be informed of probable delay. It is further made the duty of the railway to cause its bulletin of all delayed trains to be corrected from time to time, as the entries thereon are ascertained to be incorrect.

—Congressman Charles R. Thomas will address the people of Sampson county as follows: Clinton, Thursday, October 25th; Mingo Lodge, Friday, October 26th; Roseboro, Saturday, October 27th, at 1 o'clock at each place.

—Mount Olive Tribune: Further particulars of the killing of Mr. William H. Parker, at Maben, Miss., which was reported in the Tribune two weeks ago, indicate that Parker was foully murdered by a man named Murray, who placed himself on a street corner at night, and as Parker came from the depot with two grips in his hand, Murray shot his victim down without warning, after which he placed his gun against Parker's head and shot him several more times. The killing arose over a woman that Murray had married, with whom he had had some trouble, and suspected Parker of being the cause of it. Parker was conducting a hotel at the time he was killed. The murderer was captured and placed in jail, and will be vigorously prosecuted by friends of the deceased here and at Maben for what appears to have been a deliberate and cowardly murder.

—Wadesboro special, Oct. 17: Considerable interest is being manifested here in the decision which will probably be handed down by the Supreme Court in a few days regarding the place of trial of the alleged lynchers of this county. One point to be argued by the defendants and one which may be fraught with potent consequences, is that should the court decide that statutes relating to venue are not laws ex post facto and should it hold that the General Assembly can empower a grand jury to find bills of indictment for an offense committed in another county, some future Republican General Assembly might lay the venue for homicide committed by a mob or within twenty-four hours of a general election in any county in the State. If this was done, the Republican solicitor of the 15th judicial district could send the bills of indictment against the Wilmington revolutionists of 1898 to Madison county and in this case, the fate of some very prominent men could be easily anticipated.

—Kinston special, Oct. 17: The special term of court for the trial of civil cases came to an end Tuesday evening by adjournment. The suit of Mrs. S. M. Harding vs. the Western Union Telegraph Co., for mental anguish in failure to deliver a message to her from Denver, Col., was settled out of court by the defendant company paying to Mrs. Harding the sum of $475, as a compromise. Mrs. Harding's son, Mr. George Patrick, who was known by her to be very sick in Birmingham, Ala., left that city for Denver, Col., for his health. Instead of regaining his health he grew worse, and a telegram was dispatched to his mother in this city advising her of the very serious condition of her son. The telegram did not reach Mrs. Harding until two days after it was filed, and then the address was wrong, being "Mrs. Herring," and having Mr. Patrick's name "Hartman." When Mrs. Harding was shown this she at first said it was not for her, but after a moment's thought decided that it might be for her and had the local office ask Denver for a corrected message. Denver replied that no message like that he had been filed. In the meantime Mr. Patrick died and there were more erorrs in the transmission of messages, which caused such a delay that the body could not be shipped here for burial.

—Greensboro special, Oct. 17: Governor Robert B. Glenn addressed a well attended meeting in the court house to-night. The first part of the speech was devoted to a discussion of the tariff question and he gave a number of interesting illustrations. He then took up State issues and discussed these at length. He reviewed the administrations of the Democratic and Republican parties in the State since the Civil War. He pleaded for a loyal support for the party in the coming campaign. He denounced Marion Butler and his part in the South Dakota bond suits. He said the speeches being made in the State by Judge Adams and ex-Senator Butler were evidently written by some person, declaring, if he judged them by their falsity, he would say Marion Butler wrote them, and if by their display of ignorance, Judge Adams. The Governor spoke for nearly two hours, concluding by predicting a still brighter future for the State. The speech was warmly applauded throughout.

—The new Mecklenburg Cotton Mill, at Charlotte, will commence operations about January 1st. The equipment will consist of 13,000 spindles and 300 looms. The machinery will be installed as quickly as possible. The plant was built two years ago.

GOLF CLUB SEASON.

Formal Opening To-morrow Afternoon—Car Schedule Announced.

To-morrow will mark the formal opening of the Golf Club for the season of 1906 and 1907. During the past Summer a force of men has been at work levelling off the grounds, trimming the greens and putting the tennis court in first class condition. For the benefit of the players the management of the Club is pleased to announce that they have arranged with the Consolidated Company to put on the following golf schedule from Saturday, October 20th, until further notice: The regular car now leaving at 1:30 P. M. will leave at 2 P. M., and in addition to the regular schedule a special golf car will leave the junction at 3:30, 4:00 and 4:30 P. M., daily except Sunday. Returning leave the golf grounds on the last trip at 5:30 P. M. This leaving time, however, will be subject to change upon request by the majority of the regular players to the president of the Club, Mr. A. S. Williams.

HEARING BEFORE INSPECTORS.

Recent Collision Between Navahoe and Atlantic to be Investigated.

United States Government Inspectors Rice and Borden will begin this morning at 9:30 o'clock in the Federal Court room in the postoffice building an inquiry to fix the responsibility for the recent collision of the steamer Navahoe and the fishing boat Atlantic at the mouth of the Cape Fear river. The complaint is by the pilot of the fishing steamer which was sunk. Messrs. Russell & Goodman appear for the owners of the Atlantic and the pilot. A large number of witnesses have been summoned for the hearing which will probably last until well in the afternoon, as the fixing of the responsibility will largely determine the question of liability for damages in the case of the smaller boat.

Junior Company, Boys' Brigade.

Company B, of the Boys' Brigade, last night held its first drill for the Winter season and the young soldiers showed up remarkably well. The officers of the company are as follows: Major, G. Kelson Young; Captain Alonzo J. Burriss; First Lieutenant, Hiram King; Second Lieutenant, Albert Elmore; First Sergeant, Arthur G. McCartney; Second Sergeant, Bruce Cameron; Third Sergeant, Arthur Spooner; Corporals, Rudolph Brady, Herndon Jewell, James Allen, Simon Branch. Capt. Burriss is very well pleased with the way his men are showing up for the new season.

The Steamer Delayed.

Mr. F. T. Skipper, of this city, yesterday received a telegram from his brother, Mr. T. E. Skipper, who with his wife was a passenger on the Clyde Liner Carib which sailed Saturday for New York, stating that the steamer had just arrived there yesterday morning after a trip of 113 hours. On the way up the Carib encountered the northeaster along the coast and it is presumed that she was blown out of her course. The steamer was due in New York Tuesday morning.

"City of Fayetteville" Cleared.

The steamer City of Fayetteville, having completed her recent improvements, cleared yesterday for Fayetteville and will make her regular schedules in the future on the Cape Fear. Among the passengers yesterday were Mr. S. P. McNair, the new agent, and Mrs. McNair; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Register and Mr. T. D. Love, former agent of the steamer.

Their Infant Son Dead.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ormsby, 714 Bladen street, deeply sympathize with them in the death of their infant son, Harry, which occurred at the family home yesterday. The remains will be taken this morning to Ashton, N. C., for interment.

THEY'RE UP IN ARMS.

Market Street Residents Complain of Continued Nuisance.

Residents in the vicinity of Tenth and Market streets are again up in arms at what they declare is a continued nuisance in the matter of an open sewer of the Wilmington Sewerage Company in the vicinity named. It will be remembered that a few days ago the president of the company was before the Mayor on a charge of maintaining a nuisance there and that through his counsel, the defendant waived examination and was bound over to the Superior Court. Yesterday complaint was made that the nuisance had not been abated and another warrant was sworn out by Mr. W. A. Willson, Jr., charging the company with keeping and maintaining a "public nuisance by allowing a sewer to overflow with filth and run in the street to the danger of the health and the great and continued annoyance of the inhabitants." Mr. Worth, president of the company, was not in the city yesterday and the warrant could not be served upon him, but it will be served as soon as he returns.

The citizens have not been content with the indictment but have addressed a very strong communication to Dr. C. T. Harper, superintendent of health, complaining of the nuisance and notifying him that the matter will be brought to the attention of the Board of Aldermen at its next meeting.

COMING TO ACADEMY.

Dainty "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" Twice Tomorrow.

"Since "Trilby" started the fashion, the book play, like the breakfast food, has multiplied with startling rapidity and few of either have been palatable. Miss Laura Burt and Mr. Henry Stanford are, however, fortunate in their new offering, "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," in which they will be seen at the Academy, matinee and night, tomorrow. It is ismore than palatable; it is delicious; at least the opinions of the critics where both play and stars have been seen have it that way. Charles Major's beautiful story of the romantic career of dainty Dorothy Vernon has been read by nearly everyone, and the play that Paul Kester has made of it is one that everyone should see. It is bright and happy in dialogue, rich in romantic incident abundant in historical facts and very entertaining. The winsome, witty and wilful Dorothy browbeats her father, defies her aunt, betrays and saves the Queen of Scotland, hoodwinks the Queen of England, and finally elopes with her true love, as she does in the book.

All this is shown in four acts, which incidentally introduce some of the most beautiful examples of the scene painter's art that have been produced. According to one newspaper, "It all seems so real and natural, so life-like, so just-as-it-should-be that one is willing to overlook the facts of the case and say 'bravo playwright, bravo actors, bravo scene painter.' And that is what the audience did say at the end of each act with much noise and much sincerity."

."THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN."

Premier Attraction of Season at Academy Monday Night.

Gerge Ade's brightest comedy and his most successful one, "The County Chairman," presented by the biggest dramatic company, will be the attraction at the Academy Monday night, and the anncuncement of its coming should delight theater-goers into eager expectation. It is useless to dwell upon the merits of "The County Chairman," for the critics of New York, Chicago, Boston and other of the larger cities of the North and Middle West have added, without a dissenting opinion, bright flowers to the crown of success the piece now so gracefully wears. It is a matter of theatrical history that "The County Chairman" enjoyed long and prosperous runs in these cities ad it has now become a matter of record that it has been pronounced the best of all the Ade creations, although there are some brilliant stars that still mark the firmament and for the rise of which that clever humorist, by the name of Ade, is merrily responsible.

The company that will be seen in the play here is a splendid one, headed by Theodore Babcock, and sixty people will be seen on the stage. A sixty-foot car loaded with elaborate scenery is carried by the company.

"BAD MAN FROM BORNEO."

Negro Showman Before Justice Bornemann Yesterday Morning.

Walter Banks, the South Dakota negro arrested by Constable Savage with the Pawnee Bill Shows at Whiteville a day or two ago, was given trial yesterday morning before Justice Bornemann upon the multiplicity of charges brought against him. In each of five cases he was bound over to the higher court under a bond of $100 and in default of the same he went to jail. The charges were assault and battery on William Larkins with a black jack; assault and battery on Major Henderson with a pistol; highway robbery of the same person; carrying a concealed weapon, and selling liquor without license.

Banks entered no plea except that they all were gambling and he won their money, after which they tried to take it away from him.

BALTIMORE SWINDLER CAUGHT.

Defrauded Thirty Merchants Out of Goods Worth $8,000.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

Baltimore, Md., October 18.—Twenty-seven Baltimore firms allege that they have been defrauded to an aggregate of $8,000 by one Max Felstein (or Feldstein), now under arrest in New Yorak city, as a suspicious person, pending an investigation of how he came into possession of a quantity of merchandise, which he was endeavoring to dispose of to jobbers. Twenty other firms over the country are said to have claims against him for small amounts aggregating $2,000.

The goods for which Felstein owes the local firms were purchased during the months of April, May and June of this year. He represented himself in business at Newport News, Va. Not paying his bills the creditors took combined action. Meanwhile Felstein filed a volutary bankruptcy petition. It is alleged that when an inventory was taken, it was discovered that goods valued at $5,000 were missing. It is claimed here that this is the merchandise found in New York.

The father of the two Felsteins lived at 262 North Exeter street, this city, up to two weeks ago, going under the name of Fels and Felstein.

KID SULLIVAN KNOCKED OUT.

Amby McGarry, of New York, Did It in Baltimore.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Baltimore, October 18.—Amby McGarry, of New York, to-night knocked out Kid Sullivan, of Washington, in the fourth round of what was scheduled as a 15 round bout before the Eureka Athletic Club. The blow that ended the fight landed on Sullivan's jaw about the middle of the round and thereafter the referee, Robert Crowhurst, worked hard to separate the men, for Sullivan held on desperately and repeatedly, endeavoring to recover himself. McGarry was after him, however, and rained blows that, about fifteen seconds before the bell would sound and come to Sullivan's relief, sent him to the floor while Referee Crowhurst counted off the ten seconds that made the fight the New Yorker's.

The Lass Who Caught a Pirate

By W. B. COHEN

Copyright, 1905, by W. B. Cohen

THERE, there, Myre, don't take on so about the boy's playin' pirate! Boys will be boys, besides which, it's in the lad's blood. Well, it jes' is, though it happened so fur back that I ain't adzackly sure what the kinship was. My gran'dad ust to tell the yarn, and he said it showed thet you didn't want tc start out to be too tarnal wicked onless you was sure you had the draft. Fer it takes jest as big a man, gran'dad ust to say, to be turrible wicked as it does to be turrible good.

It happened a long ways ago, when Virginia belonged to old King Charles, and he had a governor over here to try to assimilate the redskins into good English subjects.

This here governor did all right excepting fer one thing. The colony was troubled mightily by pirates coming on little excursion parties up from the Spanish main. Most of these pirates was Spanish and some was French, but the worst of the bunch was a Englishman they called Bloody Brisket and his three sons, Hell's Bilge and Maiden's Prayer and Baby Tommy. They said old Brisket had been a high toned gentleman onct, but that didn't trouble him none in his latter days.

He had a crew of a hundred roaring lost souls, and one day they'd lick up a poor ship anywhere from twice to six times their tonnage and the next they'd run in and wipe a town off the map, men, women, children, sojers and all. Brisket himself was a red bearded mountain of a man, and he wore a chain that went three times around his shoulders, all made of rings he'd snatched off shrieking young ladies' fingers. Hell's Bilge and Maiden's Prayer was big red men too, but not so big as their pa; but Baby Tommy, the youngest, was the biggest of the lot.

One day old King Charles sent over a shipload of wives for his men in Virginia, and what did old Brisket do but swoop down on 'em, scuttle the ship, cut the men's throats and carry the poor girls down to the Caribbean. They didn't any of 'em ever see Virginia. After that the governor give up. But the king, he picked out the best captain and ship in his navy and sent them over to have a talk with old Brisket.

This cap'n hadn't any family except ing one daughter by the name of Eliza, but she was about the finest looking gal in England in them days. But spite of the young fellers that was broken up by it her pa took her over to Virginia with him and left her with the governor while he went looking for the Gory Scuttles, which was the name of Brisket's ship. He cruised for a month and then came acrost his quarry down off St. Kitts. They fit for three days. The first day Hell's Bilge was killed, and the second day Maiden's Prayer was killed, and the third day the cap'n run his sword through the gizzard of Bloody Brisket hisself. Old Brisket let out a roar that shook all the stanchions loose on his ship, and his last son, Baby Tommy, that was lopping off heads up forward, give his dad one look, tuk his cutlash between his teeth and dove overboard.

The cap'n felt purty bad at first that he hadn't got the last of the family, but he took enough treasure out of the Gory Scuttles to start a store, and then, after stringing his prisoners up to the yardarm according to law, he went on shore and started in on a month's job repairing his ship.

Along about this time the cap'n's daughter Eliza begin to git anxious about her pa. Every afternoon she'd set down on the beach looking out at the sea, and mostly they'd be a young man or two along to keep her sperrits up and give her advice. One day a strange vessel come piling into the lower harbor. A boat puts out, and purty soon four men with rings in their ears and cutlashes in their belts and a big red bearded man with another cutlash come up the beach.

"Excuse me, miss," says the big man taking off his cap, "but could you inform me where I might find the daughter of the Hon'able Cap'n Wygate?"

"I have the honor," she says, making him a curt'sy, "to be the same."

"The honor," says the big man, "is mine."

And with that two of the chaps with the cutlashes knocks the young men that was with her over the head, and the rest of 'em smothers her up in a blanket and puts back to the ship with her.

"Carry her to my cabin," says the red bearded chap, soon's they got aboard. They thought she'd fainted seeing as she hadn't made a peep from the time they'd grabbed her on the beach, but when they set her down in the cabin they see she hadn't. She was a little white, but her eyes was as quiet as if she was reading a book. Purty soon below came Red Beard and set down at the table with a decanter of wine in front of him.

"Now, my little canary," he says pouring out a glass of wine, "we're going to have a nice, quiet talk, but first p'raps I ought to interduce myself. I'm a son of that great and good man Bloody Brisket."

"Yes," says the cap'n's daughter, "I've heard of your family. What a sorry looking set of rogues it'll be soon as my pa kin lay hands on 'em."

"Your pa," he says, "has lain hands on 'em, and in consequence my pa and my two dear, kind brothers, is feeding the fishes down off St. Kitts."

The young lady clapped her hands.

"How lovely!" she says. Then she kind of pouted. "But how did you come to get away?"

"Don't you worry your purty head about that," says Red Beard. "The important thing is that I got away, and now, as a little token of gratitude, I'm going to take you down and turn you over to your pa—that is, after awhile, you understand, after awhile."

He set leering at her as if he thought she'd faint or cry, but the next minute his jaw dropped, fer the girl laughed.

"Will you be so kind," he says, "as to tell me what there is to snicker at?"

"Certainly," she says. "I was thinking what a large, loathsome object you'll be, dancing from my pa's yardarm!"

Baby Tommy glared at her fer a minute; then he shoved the wine bottle away and went over and looked out a porthole. The cap'n's daughter set there with her nose in the air. After a long time he come back and stood in front of her.

"Look a-here, miss," he says, "mebbe I ain't such a bad sort as you seem to think."

The girl sniffed.

"Getting frightened already?" she says.

Baby Tommy's face turned redder'n his red beard.

"Look at me," he roared, poking his face down about two inches from hers. "Look at me! Take me all in! You can tilt thet little nose of your'n, but you know they ain't anything thet swims or walks thet I'm afeard of. Lock the door there and rest easy. They'll be a man with a cutlash outside!"

With that he stumps out of the cabin, and she didn't see him again till next day, though a pirate brought in her supper and her breakfast next morning. But about noon he shows up again.

"I hope," he says, "you rested well."

She makes a face and goes over to the portholes, as if she was hunting for pure air. He pulls at his beard and says:

"I've never killed no women. I've killed men, but only in fair fight."

"Stabbing 'em in their sleep!" she says over her shoulder.

"My family's done both and worse things," he says, "but never when I was with 'em. Many's the poor wretch I've saved from their clutches and set ashore."

"Lie on, you p'is'nous reptile," she says. "You'll be burning with your illustrious relatives before long."

Somep'n like that's the way it'd go every day, Red Beard begging her to listen to him and she casting every sort of revilements on him. He spent most of his time away from her, raging up and down the deck, and his eyes got holler and his face got pale, and his beard stuck out before him like a red flame, and that murderous pirate crew trembled every time his eye lit on 'em. And every day the Gory Scuttles, which he'd named his ship after his pa's, got further and further south. Finally one day he bursts into the cabin like a soul on fire. She was setting at the table reading from a little book she'd found in a pile of things took from some poor ship.

"Be'old me!" he bellers; "be'old me, such as I am! I might have been a different man if I'd had the chanst If I'd known, for instance, a womar like you."

She looks at him over the top of her book and says, soft as a girl to her lover:

"In England we hang 'em—in chains Go up on deck and blow your brains out like a man while there's time."

That minute seemed 's if somep'n broke inside Baby Tommy.

"Two men down here lively," he roars up the companionway, and two pirates was standing beside him before his voice died away.

"Since you don't like the cabin," he says to her, "I'm going to send you down in the fo'c'sle 'mongst my gentle manly crew. Mebbe they'll set you up as an ornyment on their mess table Off with her!" he barks at the men, and they drags her out.

They took her down to the fo'c'sle and put a chain about her neck, by Red Beard's orders, and chained her in a corner, and every manjack of the crew except the man at the wheel come in and set down and looked her over She looks back at 'em as if they was so many flies crawling up the wall. Purty soon a big chap with a bloody rag wrapped around his head goes over and takes her around the waist.

"Now fer a kiss, my purty dear," he says.

Right away outside the fo'c'sle door they was a sound like the breathing of a whale in a flurry. At the same time half of the crew jumps up and whacks bloody rag over the head with their pistol butts. After that he wasn't caring fer kisses, and they lugged him out and dropped him overboard. Then a nigger gets up thet was the biggest man in the bunch.

"Dat chile," says the nigger, "was too permiskous when dey was bigger boys den him around." Then he walks over to the gal an' says, "Now, chicken"—

He didn't say no more, but he was a pow'ful man and got three of the crew before they got him. The rest dropped the four overboard. The girl put up her hand and put back a wisp of hair. That minute Baby Tommy hops in the door as quiet as a bird. He had a cutlash in one hand and a pistol in the other, and they was half a dozen more pistols in his belt.

"Is they any of you laid a finger on her?" Tommy whispered.

"Two tried it," says one of the men.

"Which?" says Tommy, whistling through his nose as he breathed.

"Their lights is out," says the man, "and they're dumped overboard."

"Unchain the lady," says Tommy.

They'd turned her loose before you could think.

"Madam," says Tommy, "may I have the honor of escorting you to your cabin?"

The girl laughed.

"I'm afeared," she says to the crew, "if this here wild man is allowed to run loose any longer he'll be getting into mischief. Won't some of you gentlemen kindly relieve him of them toys he's so fond of carrying around?"

The crew turned pale when she says that, and Baby Tommy snorted like a hog. Then they looked into her eyes, and the next minute Baby Tommy was up in a corner fighting fer life.

"Save him—save him fer my pa's yardarm," the cap'n's daughter sings out laughingly, and when Baby Tommy heard her voice both his arms fell, and the next thing they had him trussed up, lying at her feet.

"Now," says the gal, "I seen a iron cage up forward. I think we'll put him in that and keep him fer a pet."

Sure enough, there was a big iron cage they'd kept a bear in, and into it Tommy went, the gal still laughing. Then she had 'em bring it aft and lash it to a mast, and three times a day she brought Baby Tommy his meals.

A week later who should come sailing up the horizon but Cap'n Wygate. The minute he sighted the other ship he says:

"That's the vessel the last of them bloody ruffians escaped me in. I know the hulk, though blame me if he ain't changed her black paint to white and gold."

Jest then the pirate ship changed her course and put back toward the north, and as she did the cap'n got three surprises. First a flag went up to her fore beak, and instead of the black ground and skull and bones there was a white ground with a gold dove carrying a olive branch, and when the pirate showed her heels, instead of the Gory Scuttles on her stern they was painted The Glad Tidings.

The cap'n was so flabbergasted he couldn't get a gun to bear, and the pirate footing away every minute. Then, just as he was about to give a command to let her have it, they come a sound from thet pirate ship thet made him turn pale and grab a back stay. Fer back over the water floated a hymn tune. I don't know jest what it was, but it was something like "Yield Not to Temptation." The cap'n stood there a minute listening to them pirates a-howling:

Yield not to temptation, for weakness is sin;
Each victory helps you some other to win.
Fight manfully onward; dark passions subdue.

Then he staggered down the companionway without firing a gun. When he come on deck again, dazed looking and smelling of liquor, The Glad Tidings was out of range, but he stuck to her heels as she made fer Jamestown, spending his days trying to make out through his glass the queer things that was happening on the pirate's decks.

They was queer. The first thing the cap'n's daughter did after they'd put Baby Tommy in the cage was to have 'em throw the big guns overboard, because she said they spoiled the ventilation of the gun deck. Then she had an awning raised over Baby Tommy's cage, and a bit of deck alongside of it, and a rug put down, and every fine afternoon she'd set outside the cage reading to Tommy out of a little book, while the crew went about their work singing the hymns she taught 'em.

Baby Tommy ranged around his cage like a hyena and chewed the iron bars. Tommy would a-laughed at yardarms or slow fire, but the shame of that cool, calm, beautiful, smiling, kidnaped young lady setting there on his own deck reading poetry and good advice to him out of a little book was more than he could stand.

"Take me out," he'd beg her, "and hang me in chains like you said. I'm a turrible bad man, and I've always been."

"Not at all, you poor creature," she'd say, keeping her finger between the leaves of the book. "I'm going to take you home, where you can turn over a new leaf."

"Then she'd read him about not letting your angry passions rise and end up with a pome about iron bars not being no cage when you've got a innercent, good mind.

"I can't turn over no new leaf," he'd holler. "I've killed old men and women and babies, and I've got a necklace three fathoms long made of rings I snatched from dying young ladies. Take me out quick and have 'em chop me up in small pieces and feed me to the sharks, but don't let nobody else see me in this here cage."

"No," she says; "you ain't killed no women and children, and it was your pa that had that shocking necklace. Take a nap, and you'll feel better."

"You despise me," he says, banging his head against the bars which the gal had had padded before she put him in. "You despise me and make a canary of me in a cage. And I'm a man, God knows! I'm a man! I'm a man! I'm a man!"

"No," she says; "I don't despise you. As the poet says, 'Oh, how kin beauty conquer the most strong!' That is to say, beauty of conduck. The crew will now sing 'Pull For the Shore, Sailor,' to quiet your unforchinit cap'n."

And so with Tommy a-howling to be took out and killed before somebody seen him cooped up by a little pink and white gal, and with the crew singing hymns and old Cap'n Wygate trailing close behind, The Glad Tidings sailed

"Not at all, you poor creature."

one morning into Jamestown harbor. Cap'n Wygate didn't stop till he got up where he could rake her fore and aft. Then he roars out: "Ship ahoy! What ship is that?"

"The Glad Tidings, formerly the Gory Scuttles, Cap'n Thomas Couroosier, alias Baby Tommy, the repentant sinner!" came back the answer.

And then there was howls and the rattling of iron bars, like a wild beast being poked with a hot iron. The next minute upon the pirate's rail hopped the figure of a young girl.

"Pa," she yelled, "how are you? Don't shoot!"

The cap'n lowered away and covered the distance between them quicker'n any man-o'-war's boat had ever done it before.

"Has any of 'em," he says as he climbed on the pirate's deck, "touched a hair."

"They kidnaped me," she says kinder soft.

The cap'n pulls out his sword.

"And then," she went on, looking at the deck and a little color coming up in her cheeks, "I—I kidnaped them—and the ship."

The cap'n looked at her a shake. Then he says, "I see," and shut his teeth with a snap, while his officers took off their hats and the pirate crew fingered their breeches.

"And what," says the cap'n after a minute, "are you going to do with your precious gallows birds of prizes?"

"They may have been indiscreet," she says, "but they're all Christian gentlemen today, and they're to ornyment the king's navy."

"Jest as you say," said the cap'n, a kind of light breaking over his face. "Then the only thing," he went on, turning with a scowl to where twenty of the pirate crew were guarding Baby Tommy, "is what's the proper fate for this redheaded, murd'rous pirate?"

Baby Tommy began to smile and look toward the yardarm, but the cap'n's daughter looked at the deck again.

"You leave that gory ruffian to me," she says.

GOOD STORIES ON STUMP AND BAR

Hon. John Sharp Williams Uses One About Skelton's to Make Hit at Republicans—Good on Charlotte Lawyer.

(Charlotte Observer.)

Mr. John Sharp Williams, who has been making some able speeches in North Carolina during the last few days, is a good story teller as well as a forceful speaker. In his speech at Statesville he told an interesting yarn on John J. Ingalls.

"Why," said Mr. Williams, "Ingalls was long and thin. His legs were like a pair of fence rails and his arms a pair of pipe stems, and his frame loosely put together. On the same floor of the building, where Mr. Ingalls had his office, a number of doctors and others had offices. Well, there was a certain persistent news boy who went to that building to sell his papers. He would worry the doctors and lawyers. One afternoon some mischievous fellow picked him up, set him in the room with a skeleton, locked the door and left him there. The lad set up such a howl that all the town heard him. Just after a merciful renter had let him out Mr. Ingalls came to the head of the stairs in time to see him before he got down to the street. Ingalls was a good hearted man and the cries of the boy had aroused his sympathy, so when he saw the little fellow going away wiping the tears from his eyes he called to him, saying 'Come back little man. We're not going to hurt you!'

"The boy turned, looked at him and answered: 'I ain't going' to do it. You can't fool me. You'se got on your clothes now, but I know you.'"

Mr. Williams applies this story to the Republican argument, declaring that it is dressed in new clothes but it is the same as in days gone by.

One day last week Mr. J. D. McCall entertained Judge R. B. Peebles and other gentlemen at dinner. During the evening some one told a fine story on Mr. Crawford D. Bennett, one of Charlotte's bright young attorneys. An old darkey, with country ways and country looks, had broken a fence rail over a town negro's head. Mr. Bennett was employed to represent the Charlotte negro in the recorder's court. The trial came off in due time and Mr. Bennett was cross-examining the old darkey in his cleverest way, but could not get much out of him. The negro gave a good answer to every question and Mr. Bennett could not excite him. Finally, when the crowd had become interested and amused at the old negro's attitude, Mr. Bennett came to a loss for a question and, while pulling his hair and thinking how he could move the witness and make him tell something that would help his client, the old negro surprised him by saying in a voice so loud and great that everybody in the room could hear: 'Come on white man wid yo' conversation! Come on, come on! Don't get skeered!'"

There's no use getting mad if that for sale sign you stuck on the front of your vacant house has not brought you a tenant or purchaser. Your sign has been read and reread by practically the same people, who pass by it every day and who are too intent on other things to stop and look over the property. Now, if you would advertise in the Business Locals of the Morning Star it would come before the eyes of all the people looking for real estate. This is because they are accustomed to have the Morning Star tell them what property in Wilmington may be had.

GIRL FOR SALE LOST HER TEMPER

Miss Magie, of Chicago, Wept Over Letter from Married Man—Cruel Wretch Wanted Her Photograph—Her Purpose.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Miss Elizabeth Magie, who announced that she was to sell herself to the highest bidder, sat in tears in her apartments last night. She says she has had the "worst posible results from the best possible intentions."

To show her contempt for the heaps of letters received from all parts of the country, she tore several into bits and scattered them over the floor. Men declaring they are merchants, bankers or capitalists, have replied to her, and several missives are decidedly personal.

When a married man asked her to inclose her photograph, Miss Magie's patience became exhausted.

"I offered to sell myself to the highest bidder for the purpose of meeting some person who could place me where I belong in the ranks of the world's workers," she said with an angry gesture. "What had my appearance to do with that?"

"I don't want a husband. I don't want a person who will interest himself in me for personal reasons. I admit I seek an 'angel,' but I seek a financial one. I ask nothing more than a fair chance. I get $10 a week as a stenographer now. That is no pay for a woman of ambition. I wish to be constructive, not a mere mechanical tool for transmitting a man's spoken thoughts to letter paper.

"I have had several good propositions and I am considering them. I am going to invent several Christmas games and seek a man to promote them. I have read treaties on story-writing and I intend to write of my experience."

ROCK CLIFF LITHIA SPRINGS WATER.

READ WHAT ONE OF THE MOST NOTED CITIZENS OF SOUTH CAROLINA HAS TO SAY OF THE FAMOUS ROCK CLIFF SPRINGS WATER.

Spartanburg, S. C., July 24.

To Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Co.:

Gentlemen:—This will certify that I was severely afflicted with a serious case of erysipelas, that confined me to my bed for about six months or more, with daily attendance of my physician, and which eventually settled in my left leg and became so severe that a consultation of three physicians was held and the decision reached that the lower part of my leg would have to be amputated to prevent the disease extending to the upper part of my leg and body. I declined the operation and was advised to try Rock Cliff Lithia Springs Water. I engaged board near the spring and was advised to bathe my leg in the water, at the same time drinking freely.

This application soon soothed the pain, and for the first time in months previous I slept for about two hours. After a week's treatment, without any medicine or physician's help, I walked to the spring on crutches. I continued the treatment daily, and within two weeks was able to walk to the spring without crutches and in four weeks was able to walk home, a distance of 1½ miles, and resume my official business.

I was permanently cured by the use of the water, and take great pleasure in giving you this testimonial to the efficiency of the Rock Cliff Springs Water in the treatment of erysipelas.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, October 18.—The cotton market was nervous and irregular today with the close steady at an advance of one point to a decline of three points. Sales for the day were estimated at 250,000. The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 8 points on unfavorible weather in the South and in spite of rather disappointing cables. Prices worked up to a net advance of about 12 to 14 points and then eased off 6 or 7 points under realizing and a prediction for better weather in the western belt from New Orleans. The official forecast was for cooler weather, however, and the outlook for the eastern belt called for rains and high winds near the coast, making it look as though the gulf storm might work into the belt. The market rallied again on this showing and in the early afternoon was 16 to 16 points net higher. Realizing was renewed on the advance and there were selling orders from some of the big bear leaders which in connection with a rumor that an English expert would issue a bearish crop estimate in Liverpool tomorrow, eased the market off to about 3 or 4 points. The close was a shade up from the lowest active months. Southern spot markets were unchanged to ⅛c higher, but there were reports of Southern selling in the local market during the afternoon and a number of reports drifted in minimizing the damage by the recent rains and frosts.

Receipts at the ports to-day were 57,102 bales, against 50,696 last week and 48,625 last year. For the week 375,000 bales, against 346,051 last week and 319,834 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 11,706 bales, against 8,137 last year and at Houston 16,767 bales, against 12,474 last year.

DIRTY POLITICS IN NEW YORK

BLOWS ON HEARST'S CROWD

Tammany Chief Charges That Independence League People Demanded Money for Withdrawal of Their Candidates.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, October 18.—The most startling development in the present political campaign in this State came to-day when Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, publicly charged that money had been demanded by representatives of the Independence League in consideration of the withdrawal of their candidates in certain districts, and the subsequent serving of Mr. Murphy with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury in "John Doe" proceedings and testify as to his charges. The subpoena was issued by District Attorney Jerome after a conference with Judge Otta A. Rosalsky, of the Court of General Sessions, who, Mr. Murphy intimated, had given up money for the endorsement of the league.

In his statement Mr. Murphy charged that certain Independence League managers had demanded for the withdrawal of their candidates in Congressional, Senatorial and assembly districts where a third ticket had been put in the field. He added, however, that William R. Hearst, the Independence League and Democratic candidate for governor, knew absolutely nothing of what was going on in this connection.

The Independence League headquarters here to-night made a positive denial of Mr. Murphy's charges, adding that if any one connected with the organization had attempted to "hold up" candidates they would be glad to know of it.

Max F. Ihmsen, who has charge of the Independence League headquarters, gave out a formal statement denying Mr. Murphy's charges. The statement says:

"The managers of the Independence League at the Gilsey House so-called, are not 'holding up' candidates for cash. If any one, even remotely connected with the league attempted such a thing we should be glad to know the facts. I doubt if any candidate of the league has, as yet, contributed one cent to the league's campaign fund."

The Independence League, which was promoted by W. R. Hearst held its State convention at Carnegie Hall in this city September 11 and named a full State ticket, with Mr. Hearst and Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler heading it as governor and lieutenant governor, respectively. Subsequently the league named a complete judicial ticket for the first judicial district, which comprises New York City and county. At Buffalo on September 26 the Democratic State convention nominated Mr. Hearst and Mr. Chanler for governor and lieutenant governor, respectively, and endorsed John H. Whalen for Secretary of State, who had also been named by the Independence League convention.

Mr. Hearst's campaign throughout the State has been made under the joint management of the Democratic and the Independence League State Committees.

Delegates at Boston from Many Countries—Governor Guild's Welcome.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Boston, Mass., October 18.—Much business was cleared up at the first day's formal session of the triennial convention of the world's Woman Christian Temperance Union in this city. The delegates met in Tremont Temple which was crowded throughout the day. The welcome of State and city was extended by Governor Guild and Mayor Fitzgerald. Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, of Portland, Me., vice president at large of the world's union, presided. The remainder of this day was given over largely to the presentation of greetings from organizations and to the introduction of the leading representatives of many countries at the convention.

A resolution asking President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Root to renew the suggestion formerly made by the President and the late Secretary Hay, that Great Britain and the United States unite in presenting to other nations a treaty to forbid the sale of intoxicating liquors to uncivilized nations, was unanimously adopted. Late this afternoon the governor tendered the delegates a reception at the State House, and the mayor tendered them a tea at the Ford Building. This evening there was a public meeting in Tremont Temple.

CUBAN AFFAIRS AT WHITE HOUSE

President Roosevelt Getting Account of Situation from Taft and Bacon

MARINES TO BE WITHDRAWN

Sufficient Troops Will Be Sent to Bring Pacification Force Up to 7,000 Men—Roosevelt's Trip to Panama Canal.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, October 18.—President Roosevelt had a long conference today with Secretary Taft and Assistant Secretary Bacon who made a full report of all that occurred on the island since the United States government invervened to restore order. The condition of affairs in the island and the view of the officials as to the future were taken up with a view to thorough understanding of the situation by the President. The financial feature of the intervention also was talked of and the question of the appointment of a fiscal agent for the United States in the island discussed. It is expected that some responsible banking institution will be selected for this purpose. Neither the President nor those who conferred with him were willing to make more than a general statement regarding the conference.

Orders will be issued within a few days for the withdrawal of all but five hundred of the marines now in Cuba. They will be replaced by additional levies of troops drawn from ths country until the total force in Cuba numbers about 7,000. Brigadier General Bell, chief of staff, probably will be withdrawn from Cuba within a month or two and the names of Generals Wint and Duvall are under consideration to succeed him. All of the warships in Cuban waters except two or three of the smaller cruisers are to be withdrawn at once.

Panama matters also were discussed to some extent. It has been decided to appoint a governor as well as an American minister for Panama, although the President is not yet ready to make public the names of the persons he has selected. When Governor Magoon was at the isthmus, he filled both positions.

Secretary Taft will not accompany the President on his trip to the isthmus. The present expectation is that the President will be unaccompanied by any member of his cabinet or other high official.

Dreadnaught Fired Eight Monster Guns Without Injury.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

Portsmouth, England, October 18.—The British battleship Dreadnaught carried out her gun trials in the open sea to-day with the most satisfactory results. Officers of the highest rank and experienced in ordinance matters were present. After the tests of the lighter guns had been concluded, the Dreadnaught fired her ten and twelve inch guns, first singly, then in pairs and finally all eight of them, composing her broadside, simultaneously. Each gun was loaded with the full service charge of 265 pounds of cordite and an 850 pound projectile. The vessel stood the strain of the enormous broadside splendidly. There was not the slightest disturbance to her structure and only slight damage to the lighter fittings of her superstructure. Admiralty officials are most pleased with the outcome of the trials.

TAFT FOR SUPREME COURT.

Doesn't Seem to Be Much Concerned in President's Selection.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

Washington, October 18.—President Roosevelt will take up in a few days the question of a selection to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court bench caused by the retirement of Associate Justice Brown. Secretary Taft who was offered the place by the President was asked to-day as to his attitude in regard to the position. He declined to make any positive statement on the subject. When it was suggested to him, however, that the President had on his return from Oyster Bay several weeks ago practically eliminated him from the probabilities, Secretary Taft simply smiled and made no further comment than to say the President's views were generally correct.

MADE FORTUNE IN AMERICA

He Left Estate of $50,000,000, Including Nearly 200,000 Acres of Land in Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Bloomington, Ills., October 18.—A cable to Ferdnand Trapp announces the death of Lord William Scully in London, England. He held 46,000 acres of land in central Illinois, 60,000 in Nebraska, 50,000 in Kansas and 40,000 in Missouri. He owned a house in Washington, D. C., and had lately become naturalized. Mr. Trapp was his American agent.

Was Worth $50,000,000.

Lincoln, Ills., October 18.—William Scully, formerly Lord Scully, of London, England, died in London yesterday afternoon. He was a peer until 1900 when he became a citizen of the United States and settled in Washington, D. C. His fortune is estimated at about $50,000,000, including 200,000 acres of land in Illinois, Kansas and Nebraska. His first land was bought in Logan, Livingston and Sangamo counties, this State, and the remainder in Kansas and Nebraska. William Scully was the son of Dennis Scully, prominent in the Irish emancipation cause and the first Irish student in 200 years to be admitted to Trinity college, Cambridge. He studied law in a Dublin office, later upon the passage of the corn law in 1846 selling his estate and coming to Illinois. Traveling the country on horse back, he commenced to invest in land and urging progressive farming continued to acquire property to the time of ihs death. He leaves two sons in Washington, D. C., where the body will be brought for burial.

REMAINS OF MRS. JEFF DAVIS

Will Arrive in Richmond To-day—Not Lie in State.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, October 18.—A simple and brief funeral service was held today for the late Mrs. Jefferson Davis at the Hotel Majestic. Rev. N. A. Seagle, of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, officiated. He was assisted by Rev. Dr. George S. Baker, chaplain of the Society, and Rev. Henry Lubreck, Rector of St. Timothy church. The service was private, only the immediate family, representatives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and a small number of intimate friends being present. Numerous wreaths covered the casket, one of which was sent by President and Mrs. Roosevelt. Other floral tributes came from the governors of many Southern States, and from various societies of which Mrs. Davis was a member.

Late this evening the body was taken to the Pennsylvania Railroad ferry at West 23rd Street and started on the journey to Richmond, Va. A company of artillery from Governor's Island, acted as military escort and a squad of mounted police, the band from Governor's Island and carriages containing members of the Davis family followed the hearse.

Richmond, Va., October 18.—The body of Mrs. Jefferson Davis who died Tuesday night in New York will arrive here to-morrow and will be met by a military and Confederate veteran escort and taken to St. Paul's Episcopal church where the funeral service will begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The interment will be in famous Hollywood cemetery, the grave being next to that of President Davis. The funeral procession will be an imposing one, made up largely of military and Confederate veteran organizations. A detail of veterans will guard the body at the church. In accordance with Mrs. Davis' expressed wish the remains will not lie in state.

Hamburg, October 18.—The Fremdenblatt, to-day says the Hamburg police have identified the swindler, whose daring robbery at Coepenick on October 16, has thrown all Germany into laughter, is Adolph Millner, against whom the police here have proof of numerous crimes. Millner was born in the United States. His father is a German business man.

(By Cable to The Morning Star.)

Brussels, October 18.—Two hundred and fifty-eight Flemish weavers with their families left Ghent to-day for Bremen whence they will sail on a steamer of the North German Lloyd direct for Charleston, S. C. They form the first installment of a considerable immigration movement arranged under the auspices of the government of Belgium and the authorities of South Carolina.

TROPICAL STORM OF GREAT SEVERITY

Much Damage Has Been Done at Havana and on Florida Coast.

CABLES AND WIRES BROKEN

Miami and Key West Are Cut Off and Great Anxiety is Felt for Them. Disturbance Evidently Serious.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Atlanta, Ga., October 18.—There has been no communication with Miami, Fla., since morning. Miami is about 300 miles south of Jacksonville on the east coast and it is supposed the Cuban cyclone has struck the place with full force.

Great Damage at Havana.

St. Augustine, Fla., October 18.—Frequent messages have been received at the wireless telegraph station here to-day giving the progress of a severe hurricane which swept from Cuba to the lower east coast of Florida. Early this morning the storm was reported in the vicinity of Havana doing great damage there but no details have been received. Later the storm reached Key West, blowing down small houses and trees, being particularly severe along the water front. As the day wore on the storm reached Jupiter, where the wind blew seventy miles an hour.

Residents on Anastasia Island were warned and some of them moved over to this city.

No Word from Key West.

New Orleans, October 18.—Efforts were made to-night to reach Key West, Fla., by wireless from here but no response. Key West replied to wireless calls last night.

Storm Now in Atlantic.

Washington, October 18.—Reports to the Weather Bureau indicate that the tropical hurricane has evidently passed Northeastward through the Florida straits and is now over the Atlantic some distance east of the Georgia coast. Reports from land stations give no indications at present of dangerous winds along the immediate coast and adjacent territory.

General rains have fallen in the Middle and Southern Atlantic States. Rain is indicated for Friday in the Middle Atlantic States. The weather will clear in the South Atlantic States Saturday and will be generally fair.

Storm warnings are displayed from Cape Cod to Florida. The winds along the Middle Atlantic coast will be fresh to brisk northeast. Along the South Atlantic coast light to fresh north to northwest. Along the gulf coast fresh northwest to north.

Santiago, Cuba, October 18.—Telegraphic communication with Havana is interrupted. Every effort to get word from the capital has proved fruitless. Neither the land lines, nor the coastwise cable are in operation. There has been no storm here, and the cyclone which has broken communication with Havana evidently was confined to the central and western parts of the island. Efforts are being made to re-establish communication from this end.

Severe on Florida East Coast.

Jacksonville, Fla., October 18.—A severe storm has been blowing to-day on the east coast of Florida but the wires went down early in the day and it has been impossible to obtain details. Just before the wires failed the operator at Miami reported an unusual high tide with water two feet deep in the telegraph office and low streets flooded.

At St. Augustine the tide was the highest in ten years and streets along the bay front were inundated.

Havana is Isolated.

New York, October 19.—At 2 o'clock this (Friday) morning cable communication with Havana had not been restored and the Western Union Cable Company was unable to get into communication with Miami, Fla., or Key West, the wires throughout Southern Florida, having been prostrated by the storm that raged in that section during the early hours of yesterday morning. It is impossible to get information that would give any basis for an estimate of the damage done in Havana.

Terrible Destruction at Miami.

Fort Pierce, Fla., October 18.—The conductor on train No. 98, just in from Miami, reports terrible destruction there by the hurricane to-day.

Fully one hundred houses were blown down and the city is in a demoralized condition. The handsome churches of the Episcopal and Methodist denominations were both blown down. The concrete jail was leaning with danger of turning over and the prisoners had to be removed. The car sheds are down and the top was blown off the Peninsula and Occidental steamer sheds. A two story brick building, occupied as a saloon completely collapsed.
